

UnsubscribeView in your browser

Hello from Shannon and Kruger du Plessis, Co-Founders of KruShan Foundation

Welcome to our monthly newsletter all about protecting the African Penguin! These charming birds are facing serious threats, like fewer fish to eat, loss of their habitats, and changes in the climate. Every month, we'll keep you updated on the latest conservation efforts, share inspiring success stories, and show you how you can help. Together, we can ensure a brighter future for these critically endangered penguins (#NotBy2035) and preserve their unique charm for generations to come.

We are the only U.S.-based 501(c)(3) nonprofit solely dedicated to protecting African penguins.

From the Blog

Why Care About African Penguins?

Learn more about the importance of these iconic birds.

African Penguin Parenting Perils

African penguins mate for life and are good parents, yet they often face a cruel dilemma.

Keeping African Penguins Safe

We provided crucial assistance in keeping African penguins safe.

How You Can Help

Charitable giving is a great way to support a cause you trust, but donating isn't the only way to protect these iconic, adorable birds from extinction.

Choose environmentally sustainable seafood. Your choices drive improvements in the fishing industry and impact ocean health. Explore the Seafood Watch Seafood Guide to check the sustainability of your seafood choice.

Fun African Penguin Fact

African penguins don't fart. Like other birds, they don't have the same gut bacteria as other animals. They also digest food quickly, which doesn't leave enough time gas to build up.

© 2024 KruShan Foundation, all rights reserved.